Teaching and Learning Policy

The Principles of High Quality Teaching and Learning

Aims

- To ensure that all pupils make rapid progress and develop knowledge, understanding and skills across the curriculum.
- To ensure the best possible standards of pupil performance.
- To support teachers and classroom colleagues in ensuring the best possible standards of teaching are achieved across the curriculum.
- To ensure that all pupils have access to the same high quality teaching and learning experience.

Introduction

Our school curriculum is the means by which we achieve our objectives of educating children in the knowledge, skills and understanding that they need in order to achieve high standards and to promote individual growth and development. This is underpinned by our common ethos and shared values. It is vibrant, rich and offers a wide range of learning experiences. Our broad and balanced curriculum provides opportunities to learn about the local, wider and global community and supports and enables pupils to lead fulfilling lives.

- We value the way in which all pupils are unique, and we promote respect for the views of each individual pupil.
- We ensure that all vulnerable groups, including disadvantaged and pupils identified with SEND, experience the same high quality teaching and learning and therefore make rapid progress.
- We value the spiritual, moral, social and cultural development of each pupil as well as their intellectual and physical growth.
- We value the importance of each person in our community. Our whole school curriculum promotes co-operation and understanding between all its members.
- We promote British Values and the rights enjoyed by each person in our society. We respect each pupil in our school for who they are, and we treat them with fairness and honesty. We aim to enable each pupil to be successful so that they become responsible citizens and make a positive contribution to society.

- We provide equal opportunities for all the pupils in our school.
- We value our environment and teach respect for our world, and how we should care for it for future generations, as well as our own.

Our performance management process will help staff to:

- Identify targets and areas for development in line with the school development priorities.

Central to this process, is the notion that all staff have a responsibility to seek to improve their practice through evaluating their own needs as well as acting on the support and advice of colleagues.
